> The joy of a beatifully crafted and custom built space is one of life's most beautiful treasures. At Maxwells, we make this process an enriching journey from initial sketch to final installation

Walnut and marble console at Kingsborough gardens

Drinks display cabinet at Kingsborough Gardens, Glasgow

Custom designed to ape the curved cornice features in the main living room, this drinks cabinet features discreet hidden lighting, a pull out worktop, continuous moulded doors and heavy duty 8mm glass shelves.

A simple curved cornice also hides an uplight for a gentle glow.

The queen anne feet painted in black gives the cabinet a floating feel but also a touch of understated elegance.

Master craftsmanship

Your custom furniture is made entirely in-house, by us, in Glasgow. You can visit our workshop to see it getting made.

We have no standard sizes, shapes, finishes or ‘brochures’. Your home will be treated with the uniqueness and creativity it deserves.

Whatever your preferences - modern, traditional, ornate, avante garde - we will work with you to create a bespoke, one off space with interesting materials, finishes and accessories

Attention to detail is non negotiable. We will grain match your timbers, use only the best and most sustainable materials and traditional craftsmanship to deliver precise pieces that will last you a life time.

We employ our inhouse team of designers, cabinet makers, polishers, decorators and installers so we are in complete control of standards.

Concept and design

Our designer will bring an exciting energy, creativity and practicality to your project. We use high quality 3D renders to visualise your space and experiement with colours, layouts, shapes, materials and textures

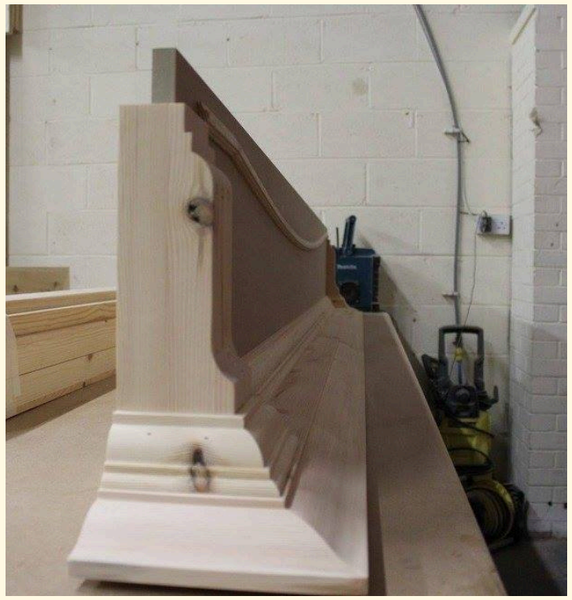
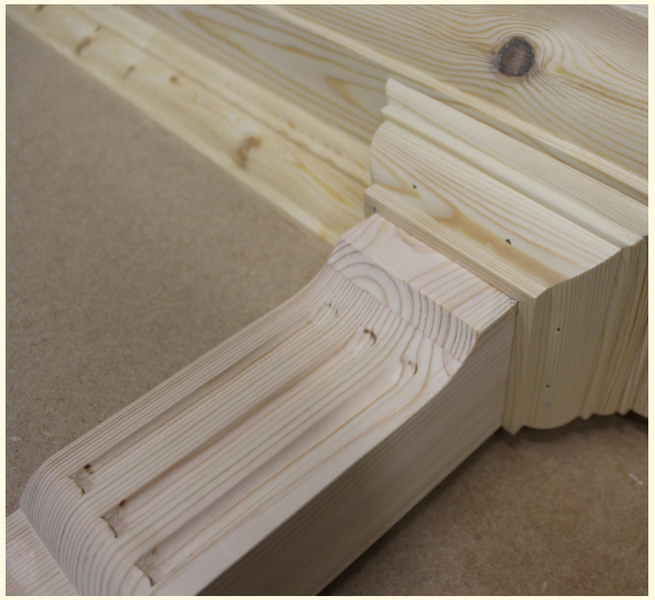
Painted MDF shaker kitchen at Jordanhill

Slim profile chamfered & reeded solid oak island with broad stile chamfer handpainted cabinetry

There is so much detail and thought process in this kitchen. From a slimline chamfered solid oak island, to reeded drawer inserts, curved corners, the dividing decorative moulding separating the reeded frontals from the chamfer shakers.
We simplified the rest of the kitchen with matching chamfer painted tulipwood cabinetry to keep the island a central stunning feature but gently reflect on the design aesthetic.
The drawers range from 550mm to 750mm depth for practicality and maximising storage.
We worked with the client to understand their storage needs, shopping schedules, cooking habits, freestanding appliance requirements like coffee machines, airfryers, hand mixers and blenders and designed cabinets to cleverly locate these items for ease of access.





Custom architrave and wall panelling

As part of a home restoration in the West end of Glasgow, we replicated the perished features of this home and also recreated new ones in the same easthetic.

The new decorative architrave, door frame and pocket sliding doors were made by mimicing the moulding of the wall panels. A lot of damaged wall panels were also restored to their former granduer.

> Custom matched architrave and skirting detail to match original features creates a beautiful framed entry into the simple Maxwells handmade inframe kitchen

Project: Busby 2

> Folding doors made from heavy duty anti bend Meranti wood with glazed panels, all handpainted to match the kitchen.
>
> We copied the moulds from other architraves and window surrounds in the property, but simplified them to suit the space.

Project: Kingsborough Gardens 3

> We designed and engineered this 5.5 meter media unit for this one of a kind conservation property in Kingsborough Gardens, Glasgow. The skirting moulding was replicated to run under the unit. We added subtle curves to complement the imposing coving. Everything was considered to its utmost detail, including the quality and placement of lighting, space for subwoofers, TV connections, speakers, future access for maintainence. Materials used: Oak, tulipwood, veneers and glass. All handpainted on site.

> Bespoke heritage picture frames created by taking moulds from existing architraves and modifying them to suit. We also created a recess to house the bespoke picture light arms and drivers

Project: Kingsborough Gardens 2

Traditional handpainted kitchen is enhanced by wall panelling, beautifully moulded architraves and bifold doors and a floating gantry above the island

Project: Kingsborough Gardens 2

> Bespoke doors from the kitchen lead to this cozy sitting room with a media unit and a writing desk.
> The wall panelling and fireplace were also meticulously restored

Project: Cambuslang

Inframe tulipwood kitchen with moulded uprights

Rather than a standard coving at the ceiling edge, we designed the coving to start at the top of the 2.6mt tall larder units and added dimmable LED uplights above. This gives the whole space a floating feeling. Spotlights were strategically placed to highlight specific areas and also provide task lighting.

Inframe tulipwood kitchen with moulded timber uprights and fridge platform. This shape was replicated at the hob and sink to create areas of interest.
We designed a special 120litre bin drawer with storage space for dedicated bin bags. All drawers are 600 or 700mm deep. The worktop has a special bullnose edge with different radii at top and bottom.

Project: Pollokshields

Oak veneer, steel frame and dark concrete modern kitchen

Featuring continuous horizontal grain matched oak veneer, this kitchen is cozy but boasts very generous and practical storage features. The wall units drop down with a remote, the drawers are all 700mm deep. The plinth is minimised to 60mm to allow for maximum per unit capacity.

The tall smoked glass and steel framed unit has UV bonded hinges and the frame is designed to cleverly conceal LED lights.

Understairs storage units at Busby
We replaced very dated looking stairs with a simple glass balustrade and incorporated shelving, storage and a continuous writing desk. We used eggerboard to keep the cost low and for ease of cleaning

Understairs storage units at Cleveden
This neglected dumping space was transformed with simple MDF shaker doors. The units have pull out rails to house coats and 750mm deep drawers for shoe storage

Project: Kingsborough Gardens 2

Walk in mirrored wardrobes, wall panelling and bespoke bathroom

A walkway was created to house elegantly simple moulded antique mirrored wardrobes. Bespoke moulded pocket doors with a heritage replica architrave lead to a luxurious bathroom with moulded wall panels, an inframe vanity detail and a walk in shower with gantry and lighting

Project: Kingsborough Gardens 1

Walk in dressing room

Costs were minimised with flush panel MDF frontals, but there are still a lot of beautiful features like the tulipwood reeded panels, glass inserts in drawers, heritage moulded cornice and skirting board that continues around the room, backlit shoe niches and a dressing mirror. The oak ladder was handmade and painted to match.

Project: Busby 1

Moulded and handpainted shaker wardrobes with matching mirrored ensuite door.
Mirrored cabinets encased in a solid brass frame flank the bedside. Pull out shelves on either side of the bed make it a convenient feature when not in use.

The bedside lights complement the handles.

An uplight above the headboard storage adds a subtle glow when required.

Project: Kingsborough Gardens 3

Simple shaker wardrobes with grille inserts to allow for air circulation.

The cornice on top continues around the room to create a picture rail. Wall panelling matching the wardrobe has been continued along the wall to house a bespoke mirror and picture frame.

At the foot of the bed is a lift up TV unit and a lit shelving with bronze accents was designed for an alcove above the writing desk

Project: Newton Mearns

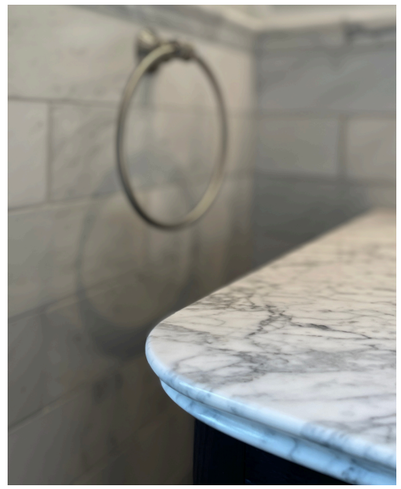
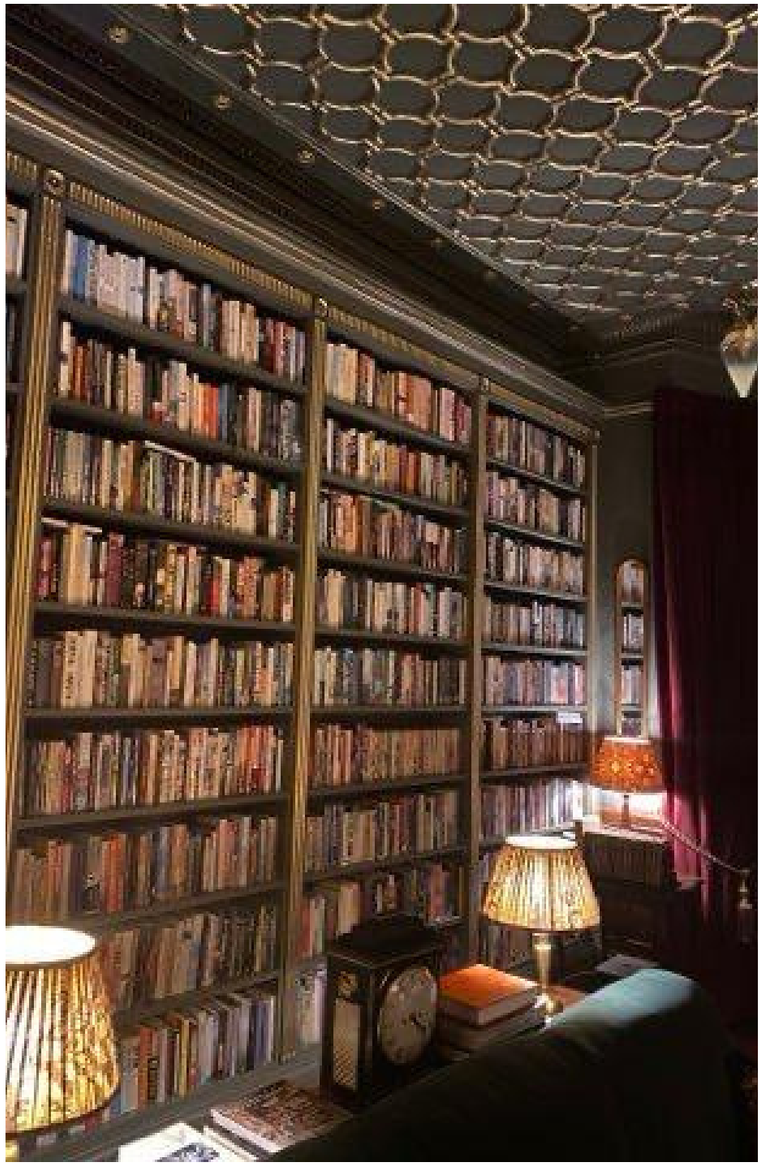
Bespoke vanity and mirror cabinet

Handcrafted with special tall lit mirrored panels, this mirror cabinet extends to the ceiling. It hides a fan duct at the top, adjustable glass shelves, toothbrush and shaver sockets, extendable magnifying mirrors. The doors have are carved with a recessed handle at the base.
The vanity is made in solid oak and oak veneer panels with queen anne legs, all stained dark to suit the black and white theme. The edging of the solid marble top is specially designed to match the moulds of the door.



Project: Kingsborough Gardens 3



Shelving and niches

From simple painted MDF, to solid wood to ornate shelving with moulded details, we have designed and made hundreds of stunning shelving details over the years.
